

DAILY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL

PRICE OF DAILY JOURNAL,
12 CENTS PER WEEK.

The "Weekly Journal."

On and after January 1, 1890, the price of the WEEKLY JOURNAL will only be $2 per year, making it the best and cheapest weekly paper in the State.

BREVITIES.

Thirteen inches of snow at Liegan.
Justice Young is under the weather.
Judge Bigelow is reported as improving.
The weather was clear and cold at Reno yesterday.

Hopson, the World-Nellie Bly man, got off for Chicago yesterday.

Jack Fouls blew down from Vordt last evening. He says the walking is not good, but he got here just the same.

Many roofs have succumbed to the weight of accumulated snow in Virginia and Gold Hill and much damage has been the result.

Chas. W. Jones is distributing some handsome calendars and papers of the Travelers' Insurance Co., for which he is the agent here.

Supt. Whitely was in town yesterday. He has stood the siege well and brought order out of chaos on his division as quickly as possible.

The setting of civil cases having been vacated, and the criminal docket being cleared, Judge Wells discharged the trial jurors from further duty yesterday morning.

William Albert Harris, of Dayton, a young man well known in Nevada as a legislative attaché and short-hand reporter, died at the home of his parents in Dayton on Wednesday last.

The other four Indian whiskey sellers pleaded guilty in the District Court yesterday, and were sentenced to a year's imprisonment, excepting one, who escaped with a sentence of ten months.

Mrs. C. M. Brown, wife of C. M. Brown, the Comstock undertaker, died in Virginia last Thursday morning of pneumonia, after an illness of only three days, though the lady had not been strong for several years past. Mrs. Brown was born at Freeport, Illinois, and was aged 35 years.

The E. K. Independent says:
The Reno Journal has only paper enough on hand for one or two moraines. Reno without the Journal would be like a mining camp without salt.

The Journal has obtained the loan of two bundles from the Virginia Chronicle, and as the road will be open in a day or two, will be able to issue as usual.

In From Cornucopia.

The Times-Review, of the 17th, says:
Seth Rossberg came in last night from Cornucopia. He was two days making the trip on snow-shoes. He met the White Rock stage before yesterday going the other way, between the toll-house and Deep Creek. The driver intended to return as far as the toll-house that night, but failed to put in an appearance. Mr. Rossberg met Althea Bros. men driving about 500 head of cattle down the river to Swimmer's Flat, where there is a stack of hay, which they intend to feed to the stock. The snow at Cornucopia is about two and a half feet in depth.

A Terrible Storm.

The Genoa Courier, of Friday last, says:
The present snowstorm is the heaviest ever seen here. There is between three and four feet of snow on a level, and it is still snowing hard at 9 o'clock this morning. People whose homes are in the upper end of town are moving out, fearing a snow-slide like we had in 1882. The road in every direction is drifted full of snow and is almost impassable for men or beasts. The Alpine mail, which should have arrived here last Tuesday, did not reach here until 10 o'clock last night.

Train Notes.

The V. & T. sent down a local yesterday. It went back in the afternoon.
The S. P. train for Salt Lake, Denver, Omaha, Chicago and New York left Reno at noon yesterday.

A snow-plow backed by eight engines, opened the road between Truckee and Reno, arriving here at 10:30 yesterday forenoon.

Board of Pardons.

The Board convened at 10 o'clock Monday, all members being present except Attorney General Alexander. Owing to the absence of Alexander and the impossibility of important witnesses and papers to arrive on account of the snow blockade on the railroad, it was resolved to adjourn the meeting of the Board until February 3d.

Funeral Notice.

The funeral of the late Hester Stephens will take place from the Methodist Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances of deceased are respectfully invited to attend.

Advice to Mothers.
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. Feb. 21-22-1890.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by cheap John houses or responsible parties at enormous profits rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at a small price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for curing the blood as BROWN'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work costs you nothing.

OSBURN & SHOEMAKER, Druggists.

A LESSON FOR STOCKMEN.

What the Present Winter Demonstrates.
The Wisconsin Silver State says:
The present winter in the west is severe on stock men. It is the most severe on record ever experienced in Nevada. Though he knows it, perhaps, as deep as it has been at any time since the settlement of the country by the whites the loss of stock is not wholly attributable to that cause, but to the dry seasons of 1888-89. In 1888 the winter was as severe as the present one and the snow heavily as deep, yet cattle wintered well and emerged from the valley fat enough for beef. Then the plains in many places were covered with white sage and rye grass, which afford a excellent winter feed for stock. Now there is nothing of that kind in this section of the State for the reason that cattle and sheep not only eat up all the rye grass and white sage in the country during the summer and fall, but also much of the browse on which they usually winter, and many of them must necessarily perish.

The winter teaches stockmen a lesson which they should always remember. It shows the folly from a business standpoint of letting cattle run at large in the snow when the range is pastured bare and trusting to luck to take them through. In winter country is such shiftlessness exhibited. Everywhere else provision is made for feeding stock if there is nothing on the range for them to eat, and the present winter demonstrates the necessity of making similar provision in Nevada. Next summer there will be an abundant hay crop, a water will be plenty, and stockmen should buy up a supply of the article to feed in case of another winter. If it is not well kept for several years and in an emergency the present could be used to great advantage. Probably must get rid of the native stock will winter in Nevada without feed when there are such winters as the present one. Though every hoof should be of starvation this winter Nevada is a good stock country and unless the range is crowded or there is a dry year cattle and sheep require very little hay to get them through the winter.

Susanville Items.

The Susanville Advocate says:
Old Sleds loaded with snow never had such a little of snow as now covers the rugged peaks. It is a beautiful sight from the street to see the sunlight playing about it, opening the shadows in the canyons and glancing from the great snow fields on the uplands. If the Honey Lake Water Co. has their dam built in time, they will have water enough next spring to fill the reservoir. We need not two months of fine weather now so that men can work. We have an abundance of snow and a fair.

The weather has moderated a good deal during the last few days, and soft balmy days have succeeded our cold snap. More clouds and a heavy moisture atmosphere will, however, on Tuesday and the day after, and we are apt to have another down-fall most any day.

Several of our townspeople are having fun and put up for summer use. The crop is about in, and next summer, when the glass begins to climb into the 80s, the thought of those who are now lying by the shore of crystal coolness will be realized. Frank Gross has put up quite a lot for his season, and Henry Brumman estimates that he has about 100 tons stored. The ice cooler of the Steward House is rapidly filling, and a bonafide supply is assured for next year. No one knows what a comfort it is to sit in a hammock to live in an out-of-the-way part of the world where it is not so bad. Then, and only then, he realizes what a blessing this one simple addition to our summer living is.

The Susanville Mail publishes this:
A certain individual got gloriously drunk Saturday night and staggered up to the graveyard. Falling down in a depression, a drunken grave, he slept serenely until early morning, notwithstanding it was a bitter cold night. He woke up rubbing his eyes, and in his bewilderment a passer-by heard him exclaim: "Resurrection morning, by golly, and I am the first man here!"

Washoe's Contribution.

Yesterday Thomas Leadwick, whose conviction for selling spirituous liquor to Indians was noticed in yesterday's issue, was sentenced to serve fifteen months in the State prison. After Leadwick was sentenced the other four, who were charged with the same crime, withdrew their former pleas of not guilty and entered pleas of guilty and waived time for sentence. Benjamin Richards, Ah Sing, Ah Jim, each will serve the State one year, and Peter Leone ten months. One is an Irishman, one an Italian, and two are Chinamen. These arrests and convictions speak well for the energy displayed in this direction on the part of the local officers, and will do more to unpopulize the selling of whisky to Indians than anything that has occurred here. This zeal in the direction of law and order is most commendable and should not be abated. It will be appreciated by all who have the community at heart.

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

What is Going on in Society at the Seat of Government.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 14, 1890.

The foreign diplomats and their families form a large part of Washington's exclusive set—and the belle who can number a foreign attaché or two among her admirers is the envy of her less fortunate sisters.

There is, perhaps, no hospitality so much coveted as that extended by the British Minister and his family.

The Legation building is owned by the English Government. It is large and substantial, without much architectural ornamentation, with spacious rooms and possibly the grandest stairway in the city. The ballroom is exquisite, and the delightful mixers balls given by Minister West each season, will not soon be forgotten.

The present Minister, Sir Julian Pauncefote and his family, have made such a pleasant impression that a great popularity is predicted for them, as that enjoyed by his predecessor, Sir Sackville West and his trio of charming daughters.

Sir Julian is apparently about sixty years old, slightly above medium height, strongly built, with a large intellectual face, a ruddy English complexion, straight nose, square chin and handsome grey eyes. Like most of his countrymen he is an enthusiastic pedestrian, and one is apt to encounter him in the most unexpected places. In the negro population he finds a never-failing source of amusement, and it is no unusual sight to see him stop and talk to some colored boy who may chance to attract his attention.

Lady Pauncefote is a healthy, well-kept looking English woman, who is said to have belonged to the "best set" of London, though she was not known as a leader of society. She is deeply interested in charities, in an unostentatious way. Much of her time is devoted to her four daughters, only one of whom is "out," the other three of twelve, fourteen and sixteen not yet having completed their education.

The family is an ancient one with a long pedigree, for there were Pauncefotes in England before the Doomsday Book was written.

The Chinese Legation occupies the large house on Dupont Circle, known as "Stewart Castle," and which Senator Stewart says "he owns, but cannot afford to live in." For this house the Chinese Government pays an annual rental of $7,000.

The regulations enforced by the new Minister in restricting the liberty of the members of his legation, and the seclusion of his wife, and the total deprivation of any of the liberties usually accorded the ladies of foreign embassies, have been topics of adverse comment.

The Minister is a good-looking man of, perhaps, fifty years of age. He dresses in the most gorgeous silk garments, with buttons of pure gold, has some splendid jewels, and is lavish in the expenditure of money. He is extravagantly fond of cigars, and is an adept in the art of rolling them. The ladies, in which he takes his dining, never fails to attract attention. It is conspicuous on account of the top joints being of solid silver, brightly polished, instead of the usual black. The lamps and all the trimmings are of the same precious metal. With the gay costumes of the Celestials, which are of the brightest and richest silks, it presents a decidedly striking appearance, as it dashes down the avenue, drawn by a span of large bays, with silver trappings, with coachman and footman in livery.

The Korean Minister and his suite, like the Chinese, appear in flowing Oriental robes. While those of the Chinese are superb silks and satins of the richest quality, those of the Koreans are poor in texture and crude in coloring.

At an elegant dinner given recently by the Korean Legation to the Chinese Embassy, the entire party maintained almost absolute silence throughout the repast, it being the Chinese custom to never converse at the table, a peculiarity closely followed by their hosts.

The Koreans are great lovers and students of nature, and on warm sunny days they may be seen in picturesque groups in our numerous parks enjoying the air and sunshine. They are an endless source of wonder and amusement to the average white and colored child.

Dyspepsia
Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels are the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the systemic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."
